(Lily loves making postcards!)

A dandelion poem

Imagine shrinking teeny tiny like an ant,
crawling along between gigantic plants.

One towering grass looks like the longest
reed,
with a puffy top full of fluffy seeds.

A giant dandelion! Bobbing in the breeze.

Oh how you've longed to take off and fly,
to look down at your home from up so high!

As the seeds flutter behind, you see your cares do too!
Your heart feels light as they float off from you!

Can you imagine anytime taking a breath
of air,
that blows away every one of your cares?

Big breath in, big breathe out watch dandelion fly all about!

Of course you can use all sorts of materials to
